Who is & Associates?

strategic thinking

We're a seasoned executive level team who has been "in the trenches" from managing the creation of a complex 3D animation for a medical device company to managing a four cities live event for a financial services firm.

We deliver design, communications, events and production creatively, on time and on budget.

With our extended resources we tap into many of the senior level and principal level creative and strategic minds that have created successful campaigns and product launches.

what we do

communications

design

Visual branding and design communications created by a team tailored to your product or service.

Whether it's medical, technology, retail, consumer, entertainment or financial, we have the right team for your project. Our team will develop your corporate identity, collateral, annual reports and web and new media design.

Corporate communications, public relations, white papers, business plans, brochure and advertising copy. Our team of writers has experience with startups, Fortune 500 and global companies.

events

Corporate events, sales meetings and hospitality. Our team produces sales meetings, trade shows, special events, product launches, marketing presentations and road shows.

production

From concept to cassette, CD or DVD, we create and manage communications that will convey your company's message effectively. Film, video, web site and new media creative and production.

& associates about the founder

Sandra Evans has developed corporate and visual communications with small companies and major corporations during her tenure and freelance engagements with Xaos, Inc., Steve Michelson Productions, McCann Erickson, Realtime Film & Video, BGDI, Piston Creative Consortium and Warmack Design.

Her management style and network of creative and strategic associates is well known.

Her greatest joy is wrangling difficult communication problems and solving them with her trusted resources of strategic and creative brains.
